Travel Around the World with Nancy Schumacher

Nancy Schumacher is Executive Vice President, Travel and Tour Operations for National Geographic Partners since 2017. Schumacher was working in the finance sector when a trip to the Himalayas inspired her to envision new ways to support local businesses and developing economies. Her passion for bringing curious people to remote areas of the world and promoting culturally sensitive tourism inspired her to create Global Adrenaline in 2001. Meaningful and sustainable tourism remains central to her travel philosophy, as well as that of National Geographic Travel.
